What are Humors?

They are vitiated or morbid fluids coursing the veins and affecting the tissues. They are commonly due to defective digestion but are sometimes inherited.

How do they manifest themselves? In many forms of cutaneous eruption, salt rheum or eczema, pimples and boils, and in weakness, languor, general debility. How are they expelled? By Hood's Sarsaparilla which also builds up the system that has suffered from them.

It is the best medicine for all humors.

Margaret Nicholson

I was not a personal friend for years of Margaret Nicholson, but only one whom she helped by the way, as we walked along together. Her sturdy, upright, shrewd mind matched the questions we discussed, when we met at places where our services were needed, in family emergencies. Women who made over gowns and those who washed them well could always find work enough, and in the circle where we labored, we were guests as well as servants. How I wish I had known more of Margaret's early life before she, a girl of sixteen, left her home in Ireland, and came with relatives to Canada. This was about 1832 perhaps. Her parents were William Nicholson and Jane Culbertson and Scotch Irish Protestants of North Ireland. The three brothers of Margaret, who once settled here, returned to Canada during the Civil War, her sister, who married Richard Hinchcliffe of Andover, well known in Free Church circles, remained with her. Margaret first lived with Mrs. Cornelius who kept Squire Farrar's house, and when the daughter was married, Margaret went to Bangor with the family. Mr. Cornelius inherited a life interest in the house owned by Buck heirs on School street; so Margaret came back and began an independent career of service, choosing the work of laundress by the day. For long years, this nameless woman toiled and saved, not caring specially where or how she camped, when the day's work was done, she had thought mainly for other's interests. She staid longest perhaps in the old house at the corner of Main and Chestnut streets, where she cared for the widow Emerson. I used to walk often with her through all weathers from the hill top and get strength from her brave, tireless spirit after a trying day of service to make both ends meet. We felt the same interest in her affairs, as she did in ours, and the new house she enjoyed so short a time was always up for discussion. When that evolved, when final testament occupied us for decision, her nephew well placed in Boston State Library, why not leave this house to a niece, one of his sisters? And the way I liked best, Margaret chose and in Miss Hinchcliffe, whose work has been in Cambridge Missions, we have gained a worthy successor of Margaret in loyal service to whatever work waits for her here. So Margaret Nicholson's last thoughtful gift to Andover will follow her.

MAIN STREETNORTH ANDOVER.*RECEPTION OF J. H. S. ALUMNI ASSOCIATION TO CLASS OF 1903

In every respect the annual reception held on Wednesday evening by the Alumni association of the Johnson High school to the class of 1903 surpassed all predecessors. The prevailing wet weather did not deter the attendance of undergraduates and alumnus and friends of the graduates in the least. About seventy couples were to be seen upon the floor enjoying the dancing. The affair was one of the sweetest that has been held this season and for many seasons. The young ladies and their chaperones were to be seen gathered about the hall gowned in handsome light evening apparel. The scene was an exceedingly pretty one.

A reception was held from 8.15 o'clock until 9 o'clock. The members of the faculty of the school, Principal Ralph L. Wiggins, Miss Annie L. Sargent, Miss Ethel A. Jacobs and Miss Helen A. Ward together with the valedictorian of the class of 1903, Miss Carolyn White and the salutatorian, Clinton Carter Barker received the ushers. The ushers were Edward A. Fuller, George N. Meserve, Albert Currier, Edward E. Curley, Herbert E. Hosmer, Merle H. White, Chester Carney and Roland H. Prescott.

Shortly after 9 o'clock the order of dances was taken up and continued until 12 o'clock. The excellent music rendered by the Columbian orchestra added much to the pleasures of the evening. The members of the orchestra were seated amidst a bower of palms and hydrangeas. Easy chairs were placed at convenient points about the hall. Cozy corners with shaded lights screens and such were arranged upon the stage.

At a short intermission held during the evening ice cream and cake were served. Caterer Conell Riley of Lawrence served upon the occasion a punch bowl with fruited drink being in use in the hall. Officer Tooley rendered his services about the premises. The members of the graduating class of 1903 are: Clinton Carter Barker, Miss Violet Lavina Driver, Miss Henrietta Letitia Drew, Robert Bigelow Houghton, Miss Margaret Milner and Miss Carolyn Lenora White. As the strains of the orchestra ceased at the close of the last waltz and the reception the sympathies of the "old grads" who were numerous in attendance went out to those of the present class which is leaving the old school and leaving behind them many fond recollections of four long years it may seem at first but very short in reality spent within its portals. Leaving classmates and teachers to go out into the world at large to take up the struggle of life.

The arrangements for the reception were made by the members of the executive committee of the association which includes Dr. Fred S. Smith, Dr. Edward W. A. Holt, George N. Meserve, Miss Mabel J. Cheney, Miss Emily Driver, and Miss Katherine Egan. The surface for dancing was in charge of Dr. Fred S. Smith, president of the Alumni association. He was assisted by the following aids: Edward A. Fuller, George N. Meserve, Albert Currier, Edward E. Curley, Herbert E. Hosmer and Merle H. White.

Those noticed in attendance came from numerous places including Lawrence, Andover, Boston, Providence, R. I., New York City, South Groveland, West Boxford, Peabody, Newton, Methuen, Holyoke, and other places.

Among those present were: Superintendent and Mrs. George G. Chickering, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Butterworth, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Rutland, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chadwick, Mr. William Howe, Mrs. V. rum B. Watts, Mrs. George E. Joselyn, Mrs. Frank H. Drew, Mrs. E. H. Beardsley of Providence, R. I., Mrs. E. MEETING OF BLUE STOCKINGS.

A special meeting of the Blue Stocking club was held on Monday evening in the rooms of the club. The meeting was called to order and presided over by the president, Herbert E. McQuestion. The most important business transacted was the disposing of the old house committee and a new committee to be known as a board of directors was elected. The board is, Ernest W. Johnson, Herbert E. Hosmer and President Herbert E. McQuestion. Two new members were elected at the meeting. They are George Walker and Wilfred Lambert. A report was given by the treasurer, Herbert E. Hosmer which showed the club to be in a very satisfactory financial standing. There was some talk of among the members at this meeting of their going down Boston harbor on a fishing trip at some time in the month of July.

LAST GAME OF SEASON.

On Monday afternoon the baseball team of the Johnson High school played their last game of the season. They went to Reading and were defeated by the Reading High school team by the score of 7 to 0. The game was not of particular interest as the superiority of the home team was clearly evident being older and larger than the local boys. N. Ellsworth Flanders accompanied the local team and umpired the game most satisfactorily for them. A number of rooters stood by the team. This was the last game of the season for the school nine. Of their scheduled games they have played eight, winning four and losing the same number. The bad weather has interfered greatly with their opportunities to practice the game and the lack of good material has been sorely felt to make the team complete. The lineup of the team on Monday was, Curley and Kirk c, Clements p, Badger 1b, Carney 2b, Curley and Kirk ss, Captain Kelley 3b, Casey rf, Hallowell cf, and Hamlin lf.

RAILROAD PETITION.

Recently a petition has been circulated in the town concerning railway matters. In many instances it is receiving many signatures. It is a petition to the effect that at some time in the near future the selectmen and railroad people get together and settle thought impracticable as the matter is in the hands of the court and neither side may make a move on their own behalf. It is felt by many in town that the railroad should be in operation and there were misgivings in the minds of some regarding the new route which is proposed from Haverhill through West Boxford, North Reading to Reading. This location would give North Andover out in the cold entirely.

PRESENTED WITH SOLID GOLD BADGE.

Chief Engineer David W. Wallwork of the local fire department, was made the present of a handsome solid gold badge on Monday evening, by the members of the Eben Sutton engine company. The gift came as a great surprise to Mr. Wallwork, who happened at the time to be in the house of the company. The members of the company were all gathered and at an opportune minute, in a few well selected words, Captain Charles Lane gave to his chief, in behalf of his company, the elegant gift, which expresses their confidence in his ability and their esteem as a superior official.

The badge is of the accepted shield shape engraved on the face with "chief engineer of the North Andover fire department," while on the reverse side appears, "presented by the Eben Sutton S. F. E. Co. 1893." Mr. Wallwork replied most fittingly to his under firemen expressing his appreciation of their gift and thanked them sincerely.

J. H. S. TEAM ELECTION OFFICIALS.

On Tuesday the baseball team of the present year at the Johnson High school, elected a captain and manager for the next year. Edward Kelley was again elected to take charge of the team as captain and Clifton P. Carney was chosen as manager. The majority of the members of the present team will remain in the school and a strong team will represent the school during the coming season. At this time there was some discussion about getting jerseys for the team.

All of our gingham remnants marked down to 12 1/2 cents. Special value at Farr's Remnant Store, 9 Lawrence street, Lawrence.

J. H. S. 19; M. H. S. 1.

The Johnson High school baseball team met the team from the Methuen High on Thursday night on Friday afternoon. The latter team was defeated by the score of 19 to 1. The game was a most satisfactory one although the visitors did not seem as strong as their opponents. The home team retained their confidence throughout the game although at times their playing was not of the best. The game was umpired by N. Ellsworth Flanders. The lineup of the home team was: Kirk c, Kershaw p, Wrightley 1b, Casey 2b, Curley ss, Capt. Kelley 3b, Hamlin lf, Houghton cf, and Hallowell rf.

BASEBALL SATURDAY.

On Saturday afternoon the Blue Stockings defeated a picked second team by the score of 8 to 5. In a five inning game played on the Tavern lot, John Duane was the umpire and called the game after the fifth inning because of rain. The star feature of the game was a fly caught made by Ralph F. Robinson in a field which prevented Hargreaves from making a three base hit and possible home run. He fielded the ball well and assisted Mackie in making a double play. The line up of the teams was: Blue Stockings—Kelley c, Geaney 1b, Johnson 2b, Starling ss, Hargreaves 3b, Clements p, Flanders rf, Greenwood lf, and B. Wrigley lf. Picked team, G. Campbell c, J. Kelley p, J. Campbell 1b, F. Mackie 2b, Woolley ss, Smith 3b, Robinson of Rand rf, and W. Wrigley lf.

CAUSES OF HAY FEVER

Hyomel the Only Cure—Gives Change of Climate in Your Own Home.

Fifty years ago, hay fever had not been named, but undoubtedly people suffered then as they do now with storms of sneezing, profuse watering of the eyes, excessive running at the nose, intense smarting and itching and stuffed up feeling in the head.

The direct causes appear to be heat, dust and pollen of flowers. Although hay fever may occur at any season of the year, it is most common and severe in August, and preventive treatment should be adopted some weeks before the time the disease is due.

Prior to the discovery of the remarkable effects following the use of Hyomel, the only treatment that gave relief to hay fever sufferers, was change of climate. The use of Hyomel enables anyone to breathe air at home which is like that of the Adirondacks, the White Mountains or other health resorts where healing balsams fill the air with nature's germ destroyer, ozone.

Those who are subject to hay fever should begin the use of Hyomel at once and thus prevent the disease. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure in the treatment of hay fever.

E. M. & W. A. Allen have seen the good effects following the use of Hyomel in all diseases of the respiratory organs, and are willing to sell Hyomel to any hay fever sufferer, with the understanding that if it does not give satisfaction, the treatment will cost nothing.

His Last Hope Realized.
(From the Sentinel, Gebo, Mont.)

In the first opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1889, the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who made the first race one fine day in April. During his travelling about and afterwards his camping upon his claim, he encountered much bad water, which, together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhoea which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within an hour the patient was taking his first solid sleep for a fortnight. That one little bottle worked a complete cure, and he cannot help but feel grateful. The season for bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by E. M. & W. A. Allen, Andover.

A Beautiful Memorial.

The Andover cup of joy has been very full at all of the anniversaries this year, and it fairly overflowed at Abbot last week, when the beautiful new McKean building was formally started in its construction. Long wished for, long planned for, it comes at last as the full realization of the hopes and efforts of all friends of the school. Its name links it forever with the name of those who for so many years were in the front of the planning and working for a greater Abbot, and no more fitting memorial could be created than this beautiful building.

As this memorial to the Misses McKean rises on Andover Hill it cannot help occurring to all of those who delight in the attractive Andover, that great steps are being made these days in making Andover more beautiful, and could there be any way so good as the giving of buildings and grounds and other features to preserve the memory of those who for the past two score years have labored in the activities of Andover life? Draper Hall, The McKean Memorial Building, Davis Hall, Bancroft Memorial, The Taylor and Eaton and Draper Cottages, The Brothers' Field, these are a part of the new Andover Hill which bring joy not only to the schools which immediately benefit from them, but to the whole town. May such memorials increase in our midst. May they not be confined to the areas of the great schools, but may they reach out to other sections where the need and the opportunities are ready for the liberal hand and the interested help.

Give to Phillips and to Abbot all that they need to add to their glory as great schools, and the town will rejoice. Give to the local youth who may not be able to partake of those blessings, other pleasures which are so easily possible, and the rejoicing will be increased manifold. The memorials on the Hill are beautiful tributes to beloved leaders and to interested friends; how many similar tributes could be paid to fine old names that have done, and are doing, for purely local improvement? The Common, the new Playstead, an Historical Building, a new Town Building, and so many other opportunities! These and many more fields are open to the memorial builders in grand old Andover.

Editorial Cinders.

Once a year we urge our good Andover people to help the Flower-Mission. We do this, primarily, because we are asked to, but like the work itself so faithfully carried on by those who have done it for so many years, we also do it because it is a good thing to do. There aren't many to help in any work such as that of the Flower Mission, but if our flower gardeners only knew the joy that comes from these weekly flower visits to the hospitals and dull places of Boston, there would be no need of urging them to do their part. It's all a labor of love, from the oversight of Mrs. Dr. Abbott, to whom flowers are sent every Friday, to the free carrying of Tuttle's express. Your part isn't much for you to do, but it is a lot in the great summing up of it all.

That was a wonderful display, the Hooker parade in Boston yesterday. The soldiers and sailors of the regular army, of the State militia, of the school regiments, all made important parts of the imposing pageant, but the central figure was the body of old and honored veterans paying a tribute to their old leader, such as the new generation could not know or feel. Probably never again will Massachusetts see such a host of marching veterans, and it was most fitting that they should gather for such a tribute as they rendered to their old chieftain. The monument is a magnificent piece of work, worthy of the man and of the state. Could the lesson of the day be impressed upon the world at large in a more forceful way than to leave as the central thought of the whole great event those words of Gov. Bates as he said:

"And here, sitting in the saddle of bronze, may the commander ever direct the attention of the world to the fact that Massachusetts does not forget her defenders, and may be order to the front, in all generations, the best impulses, and the highest traits of character of our citizenship."

We gladly give place to the protest of the "Young Naturalist" although he failed to send his name because it is timely. There is a lot of false sentiment over "killing things", but there is vastly more wrong tendency toward taking life of birds and beasts. The boys need all possible restraining, and we are glad to see a young enthusiast for such restraint.

The "Tell Tale" is in process of reconstruction for summer use, a process somewhat delayed because of such a rush during the past weeks. It will come forth Monday though, full of meat and we hope full of aids to recreation for a tired Andover.

SHOOTING AFFAIR

Samuel Meyer Suddenly Fired upon by His Employer, Wm. T. Sellers.

Narrow Escape from Death.

A very serious shooting affair took place on the Hill last Tuesday when William T. Sellers, apparently without the slightest provocation, drew a revolver and fired point blank at his hired man, Samuel Meyer. The assault occurred in the kitchen and not a word had passed between the men. Meyer was quick enough when Sellers pointed the revolver at him to divert his assailant's aim by throwing up his arm, the bullet going wide and thereby saving his life. The shot was fired however at close range that some of the powder entered Meyer's face. Meyer succeeded in disarming Sellers and then summoned Chief of Police Frye.

Meyer says that there was no quarrel and that nothing had happened which led him to expect an assault. He says that Sellers had not threatened him and that they had never had any trouble before.

Sellers was arraigned in the local police court Wednesday morning before Judge Poor on a charge of assault with intent to murder, who found probable cause and ordered him held in $2000 bonds for the September term of the grand jury.

Sellers was represented by Lawyer John L. Donovan and was examined by Medical Examiner Dow, Wednesday night, as to his mental condition, and as a result it was decided to have another examination later.

Sellers' friends claim that the rash act must have been committed during a fit of temporary insanity, at least, for he was not under the influence of liquor, and fired without the slightest provocation.

Andrew Jackson at Andover Seventy Years Ago.

In June 1833, President Jackson accompanied by Martin Van Buren, Levi Woodbury, Lewis Cass and other distinguished gentlemen left Washington to visit New England, intending to go as far east as Portland.

Military parades, processions, receptions, public dinners and demonstrations of many kinds were the order of the day.

His first public reception in the state was at the town of Roxbury, when Mr. Jonathan Dorr on behalf of the selectmen, made the "welcome" speech, which ended with a poetical flourish.

We appreciate his public services and "May his powerful arm long remain nerveless, who said, 'The Union, it must be preserved.'"

To this Old Hickory responded, "It shall be preserved as long as this arm has power."

President Jackson visited Salem, June 26, 1833, and passed the night at the Mansion House which was placed at his disposal by its owner, Capt. Nathaniel West. On the following day the President visited the museum of the East India Marine Society and other points of interest before breakfast and left at nine o'clock for Lowell.

The reception committee of Salem attended him as far as Andover where he was received and welcomed with civic and military honors.

The party partook of a collation at Locke's Hotel, visited the Theological Institute and the academy, the pupils of which paraded, remaining at Andover about one hour and then proceeded toward Lowell.

M. C. Andrews of Andover was one of a cavalcade of fifty who met the President at the foot of the hill near the residence of Henry Gray, escorting him in to town and on toward Lowell. This occurred on June 27, 1833.

At the reception at Lowell a military company from Methuen took part and all the mill girls were in the procession dressed in white and carried parasols.

Strawberry Festival Last Evening

Last evening the members of the Y. W. S. C. of the Baptist church held a Strawberry Festival at the church vestry. Owing to the cloudy skies, not as large a number as had been hoped for came out to partake of the good things temptingly displayed for sale by the young ladies, but those present liberally patronized the tables where ice-cream, strawberries and lemonade were to be bought.

During the evening the Thomes' orchestra rendered music which was much enjoyed by all.

The executive committee of the society had charge of the affair.

Punchard Reception.

The largest gathering that ever attended a Punchard reception met in the Town hall last Friday evening. The hall was beautifully decorated with red and gold streamers, these being the class colors, and the front of the stage was massed with ferns kindly loaned by George Millett. Behind this bank of greenery the Andover Band orchestra was stationed.

A reception was held until nine o'clock and then the dance order was begun. At about 8:30 the Senior class, which had been in the lower Town hall were ushered into the Upper hall and were presented to the receiving committee. Then a grand promenade was formed headed by the class, during which dance orders were distributed.

The dancing was supposed to stop at 11:30 but on account of the encroaches the company did not break up until fifteen minutes later. The order was composed of round dances with one or two square dances mixed in. During the intermission refreshments were served by Caterer Higgins and throughout the evening Miss Mary DeWing supplied the dancers with lemonade.

The reception committee consisted of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Goldsmith, Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Lowe and Mr. and Mrs. Corwin F. Palmer. The matrons were Mrs. Edward Abbott, Mrs. David S. Lindsay, Mrs. Chas. H. Shearer, and Mrs. Chas. L. White who were seated at the right hand side of the hall near the stage.

Chas. H. Shearer, Mrs. David Shaw, Chas. W. Clark and Miss Carolyn A. Abbott were the committee of arrangements.

"Forty-Niners" Reunion.

Fast dwindling is the number of men known as "forty-niners," who made that famous rush across the country to the gold fields of California, and which did much in the making of the history of the country, but there are still enough of them left to get together and indulge in reminiscences of the exciting adventures that were encountered during those times. There were nineteen in the party that gathered at the Revere House June 17.

Old acquaintances were renewed and the stirring scenes in which members of the party have taken part were recounted. The mortality of the association has been great for the past year. Ten or twelve have died. The nineteen who assembled yesterday promise to see Father Time, summer and winter, several times before they will answer the call.

Henry M. Hayward of Andover was re-elected president, and Edward Litchfield of Roxbury secretary. The organization was started in 1889.

Communication.

Mr. Editor: "C— is just after killin' a yellow bird." These words attracted my attention a few days ago and I inquired into the matter. The "yellowbird" was a summer warbler. Was it killed for food? No, indeed. It was killed for pleasure in killing—reckless slaughter. Yesterday I saw a dead creeping warbler on the sidewalk. I was told that the same C— had the "honour" of killing it. He spoke of "knocking it over its perch" as if it was a deed of valour.

These are only representations of a cruel pastime which, I am sorry to say, is a common occurrence. What is the use of destroying these beautiful creatures of the air? Is it the boy's fault? Partially. The parent has also a hand, indirectly in this work of murdering the birds, which are so useful in destroying harmful insects and which also add greatly to the charms of nature, by their attitude to the child. A parent buys a boy a shotgun or even a simple air rifle and tells him to use it on the birds.

"Kill the sparrows," has been said by many, "but do not touch the other birds." But I say do not kill the sparrows for two reasons. Firstly, because what many inexperienced persons take for English sparrows are really fox sparrows, swamp sparrows, etc., secondly, because by the killing of a sparrow the average boy begets a love for killing something else.

A YOUNG NATURALIST.

Surprise Party.

About thirty young people of Abbott Village, tendered a surprise party to James Craik, Jr., last evening, when he was presented with a purse of money. Dancing, games, and songs were enjoyed during the evening which to the happy gathering passed all too rapidly. Refreshments were served. Mr. Craik who has been ill for some time was compelled to give up work recently. He left town today for New Hampshire where he will reside.

Fair skies and bright sunshine are the usual accompaniments of the closing days of the Abbot Academy but this year "Old Prob" was no respecter of persons and frowned on the commencement exercises. Yet in spite of the gloomy weather, there was a special cheerfulness pervading the atmosphere around Abbot this seventy-fourth anniversary, for the laying of the corner stone of the McKean Memorial building was to be the event on the program.

In spite of the stormy weather last Saturday evening, Abbot Hall was again filled by an interested audience to listen to the thirty-sixth annual Draper Reading. The evening was filled with sentiment, humor and charm by one of the best readings for years.

ABBOT HALL

The building is a memorial to the late Misses Phoebe and Philena McKean, for many years the loved principals of Abbot academy. The building will cost $60,000 and is to be a thoroughly modern school building. It will be an important addition to the equipment of the institution. In addition to recitation rooms, it will contain a large hall, and a gymnasium. The structure is to stand on the northeast corner of the academy grounds on School street. It will be built of brick with stone trimmings, the architecture being in keeping with the style of the other buildings. Although the dull weather detracted much from the usual gaiety of the occasion and the enjoyment, the exercises were among the most enjoyable.

Gift of $10,000.

As a culmination to the list of donors, which is too long to be printed, Mr. George G. Davis of North Andover, gave to the McKean Memorial committee, the sum of ten thousand dollars, to be used as a memorial to his father, George L. Davis, in completing and naming the hall in the McKean Memorial building.

The anniversary exercises began Friday afternoon with the lawn party of the seniors to the friends of the school and was followed by

In the first part of the program, the solo by Mrs. Kenefick, "The Merry Skylark," was beautifully rendered, and the piano solos by Miss Carmichael were so enthusiastically received that she responded with an encore.

Laying of Corner Stone of McKean Memorial Building

The event of the day began immediately after the close of the tree exercises. The four ladies representing seniors, alumnae, memorial committee and Faculty wielded the trowel as to the corner stone. Mr. Draper lent a crowning, because spontaneous touch, to that of the substitute for Dr. Merriman. The stone was lowered into place and with a threefold tap of the hammer in the name of the triune God the stone was pronounced well and truly laid. The president of the Theological Seminary, the pastor of the South church, and the principal of Phillips Academy discharged their several functions with dignity and feeling, and with a fit sense of the interrelation of the three schools. The complete program was as follows:

Prof. Taylor's Address.

Alumnae and Friends of Abbot:

Today, by the blessing of Almighty God, we lay the corner-stone of the McKean Memorial. It is the expression of our debt to a great teacher. Miss McKean was a master-builder of mind. She was a born lover of beauty. Hers was a statesmanlike instinct for institutions. She had a Puritan passion for righteousness. Better yet, she breathed a Christian conception of womanhood, a Christian enthusiasm for humanity. The whispering pines of her youth shadow the grave, where Miss Philena sleeps by Miss Phebe's side. But only her mortal dust is there. Here on this holy ground her spirit lives, her pupils, her teachers, her fellow-citizens are her memorials. For three and thirty years she built not wood, hay, stubble, but gold, silver, precious stones into the school, which was her second self. By their offerings her alumnae witness to this divine foundation. She is a pillar in the temple of her God. Gratefully, reverently, lovingly we rear a temple of knowledge to the Rock of Ages, in whom she trusted.

GENERAL VIEW OF BUILDINGS

BASEBALL

Last Saturday afternoon the Unions and the Elms, two local organizations crossed bats on the Pynchard grounds in an interesting though rather one-sided game of ball, the former team winning by the score of 15 to 2.

The game was characterized by several beautiful plays by both teams and costly errors on the part of the Elms. Soutar was easily the star of the game, his playing at short stop being of the gift edge order. Hilton pitched good ball for the Unions, allowing only 6 scattered hits while Matthews was touched up for 15. In the seventh inning with two men out and the bases full, the poor judgment of "Bumpy" Upton who returned a ground ball to Hardy, which went over his head, allowed four men to score, whereas if it had touched first the side would have been retired. Considerable wrangling was evident on both sides which to the spectator is very unpleasant and to make the games more interesting, this should be avoided.

An interesting game of baseball was played Monday afternoon between the clippers and a picked team, which resulted in a victory for the former team by a score of 14 to 3. T. Ryley pitched a good game.

Baccalaureate Sermon

In a steady downpour of the rain, the graduating class attended the South church on Sunday the 21st, to listen to the baccalaureate sermon. The congregation on account of the very inclement weather, was not as large as usual. Rev. Allen E. Cross, assistant pastor of the Old South church Boston, preached the sermon, his subject being a forgotten elective in education.

study, church history, modern missions, forms of preaching, social philanthropies. Men spend years on these. Expense of vitality is not reckoned. And yet, these are less basic than prayer.

"Three things were significant in that passage read to you this morning, wherein Jesus was asked to help men pray. First, the consciousness of the unknown disciple that prayer was a thing to be taught; second, his own eagerness to learn; and third, the willingness of the Master to teach. Against our neglect or omission, I put the practice of him that was in Christ's judgment greatest of men, that voice of tion. He took for his text 1 Peter 3: 7, "That your prayers be not hindered."

In opening he said:
"The prayer life seems to be a forgotten elective in education. Perhaps it is too vague for instruction; possibly it is too high and full of awe. Perhaps on one can be found rash enough to unveil the sanctities of the inner spirit."

"But these objections do not seem weighty enough to offset the soul's insistence, that a thing so vital should be something more than a matter of random exhortation. I cannot speak for you, but for myself I do not remember in the years of schooling, to have received a syllable of tuition in this delicate ascent of the soul. Many appeals for prayer, but no intimate council!"

"If such experience be not exceptional, is it any wonder we make so little progress in our devotional life? Suppose we paid as small attention to other religious educations, to Bible the wilderness. Against the spiritual pride that forbids one to apprentice himself to the masters of devotion, Catholic or Protestant, I set the open mind, the questioning hunger of that first disciple, whose prayer for prayer gave us the Lord's prayer."

After setting forth the methods of such a culture in prayer, the preacher concluded as follows:

"In this your baccalaureate, I have tried to bring you a document of life. For, we are not merely friends or scholars here today. As souls we meet for a brief hour of fellowship. For some of us this is the one point of space and time when our ships come together. What a soul may say to other souls, in this crisis of existence, ought to be what is most precious to himself."

"For such an opportunity, I know that this old theme of prayer seems almost too common—common as life, common as God! And yet I know that if some one, in student days, could have advised me on this commonest theme, I should have been saved long perplexity and discouragement."

"And I know furthermore that for you, life's largest educations with its supreme electives are only opening at your graduation, and of these none is so regarding as this divine elective."

"If you choose and cultivate this in tireless honesty, it must be to you not only direction by dynamic. The opening of its channel is to mean the flow of your power. The effort to dredge out its hindrances—is to be your attempt to substitute strength and peace and companionship for isolation, weakness and unrest. It lies with you to make this prayer life either the most pitiful farce or the most beautiful reality."

The Commencement as a whole was a long step forward in Abbot's fortunes. Heating and lighting plant, and the renovated Abbot hall and the finishing and furnishing of the McKean Memorial and a Churchill Memorial do not seem impossible if Andover will rise to its opportunity and responsibility. What is that but to enlarge the building fund by $30,000 more till it becomes $100,000, on the 75th anniversary of the school of Madame Abbot? May the many friends of the Principal rally round this standard.

Like a wondrous op'ning flower,
Life unfolds for us this hour;
Life with glories manifold,
Life with mysteries yet untold.

As a growing blossom frail,
Though the storms and winds assail,
Floods the world with fragrance sweet,
May we brighten lives we meet.

Like a flower whose work is done,
We shall wither one by one;
Let us then make each day count
Till we reach the golden mound.

When we class-mates pass beyond,
Hail us victors from life's field;
"Virtue is the safest shield."

LETTER FROM ALLEN'S.

Sincerity of Offer to Refund Money unless Mi-o-na Cures Dyspepsia.

To the Editor of the Townsman:
Dear Sir,—Having heard that some people question the sincerity of our offer to refund a purchaser's money if Mi-o-na does not cure dyspepsia, we are writing you this letter to say over our signature that this offer is made in good faith and will be lived up to by us both in the spirit and the letter.

So many of our customers have told us of the great good Mi-o-na has done them, that we are more thoroughly convinced than ever that there is but little risk to us in selling Mi-o-na under this guarantee.

Less than two out of every hundred call for a return of their money, and I cheerfully refund it.

The demand for Mi-o-na is increasing rapidly and we believe it is destined to be the most popular of all medicines. If it did not have unusual merit we certainly could not afford to guarantee it.

Please publish this in a prominent place so that your readers may see that they run no risk whatever in buying Mi-o-na, if they wish to gain in weight and be cured of dyspepsia.

Respectfully yours,
E. M. & W. A. ALLEN.

Letter to George F. Cheever.

Andover, Mass.

Dear Sir: You know all about shoes. How many customers have you who know anything about 'em?

You have bought and sold shoes for years, and have learned what you know by your customers' liking one sort, and not liking another. They find out by wearing 'em.

So with paint; but we go deeper. We are 149 years old in the business; and we make, not buy—we make a good deal of paint.

We paint a good share of the railroad and steamer property in the United States, and may as well paint the private property. Yours as well as anybody else's.

Devoe Lead and Zinc is your paint. Costs half as much as mixed paint or lead and oil because it takes fewer gallons and wears twice as long.

Beck Bros & Co., Williamsport, Pa., write:

Mr. Ezra Rathwell had used 11 gallons of well-known mixed paint for his house; he repainted this year with Devoe Lead and Zinc; bought 11 gallons and had 5 gallons left.

Yours truly,

Wedding.

WARNER—WASON.

At the "Buttonwoods" at 1785 Osgood the home of J. Gilbert Chadwick, a very pretty though quiet wedding took place on Wednesday afternoon. The happy bride on the occasion was Miss Elvira Day Warner a sister of Mrs. George G. Chadwick who was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Marlan Calvin Wason of Methuen by the Rev. Albert G. Warner who graduated this year from the Newton Theological school and was ordained a few days ago in North Oxfordbridge in his home church. The ceremony was performed in the afternoon at 4 o'clock in the presence of the immediate families of both parties. The groom is the son of Alvah Wason of Methuen.

The union was effected under an arch of evergreens mingled with white daisies, ferns and roses and the color scheme of the parlor was carried out in the colors of green and white. The bride was becomingly gowned in a handsome creation of French batiste with trimmings of valenciennes lace to match. She carried a bouquet of bride roses. She was attended by Miss Alice Perkins of Salem N. H., as bridesmaid who was attired in white, muslin with trimmings of lace, and carried pink.

The best man on the occasion was John Richardson of Salem, N. H., and the little page was Master Donald Carlton of Providence, R. I., a nephew of the bride. The ceremony was performed while Miss Elvira Day of South Groveland softly played the wedding march. Following the avowed light refreshments were served those present.

In the evening a reception was tendered the happy young couple from 7 till 9 o'clock when about 150 guests from many places were present, including Providence, R. I., Hopdale, West Roxford, Methuen, Salem, N. H., Andover, North Andover, Portsmouth, N. H., Newburyport, Danvers, Haverhill, Lawrence, and Raymond, N. H. A very pleasing collation was served by Caterer Tanner of Haverhill to the guests. The dining room where the repast was partaken of was decorated handsomely in shades of pink. The home was decorated by Mrs. Carlton of Providence, R. I. Those who served were Miss Marion Wilkins of Danvers, Miss Bertha H. Day of Ward Hill, Miss Ida McKern of Andover, Miss Elizabeth McDonough of South Lawrence and Miss Elvira Day of South Groveland.

The happily married couple were the recipients of an elegant display of wedding gifts of silver, cut glass, china, and other useful articles of domestic use. They left during the evening for an extended wedding trip and among places that they will visit will be Boston and Providence, R. I. On their return they will make their home in Andover at 27 Elm street. They will be at home to friends after July 6th. They go forth into double blessedness with the best wishes for their happiness of their many friends.

SOMMERS—WALKER.

A very festive occasion took place at half past eight last Wednesday evening at the home of Henry Cunningham, 6 Whittier Court, when Elizabeth Walker and Joseph Sommers were united in marriage by Rev. A. T. Belknap. The house was beautifully decorated with wild ferns, daisies and roses.

The bride was dressed in white tulle and carried a bouquet of white roses. Miss Martha Blunt wore a gown of blue muslin and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The best man was James Barton. "Jacky" Brown was stationed at the door to welcome the numerous guests, who came from Lawrence, Lowell, Billerica and Boston. Over one hundred were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Sommers received many choice and useful presents, including glass and silverware, pictures and dishes. The refreshments were supplied by Caterer Higgins.

CRICKET.

The Andover Cricket club and the Merrimacks of Lawrence contested for honors on the local crease last Saturday, the latter team winning by a score of 53 to 44. Ogden bowled splendidly for the Merrimacks, taking 8 wickets for 16 runs. Captain Bruce of the local team gave one of the best exhibitions of batting seen on the home grounds for many a day. He went in first and batted through the whole inning defying every attempt of the Merrimacks to get at his wickets. It was a noteworthy performance. He also bowled well. Merrimacks won with two wickets to spare. The score:
